Congress of the United States Washington, DC 20515

February 5, 2019

Mr. Mark Chalmers President & CEO Energy Fuels, Inc. 225 Union Blvd., Suite 600 Lakewood, CO 80228 Mr. Jeffrey T. Klenda President & CEO Ur-Energy, Inc. 10758 W Centennial Road, Suite 200 Littleton, CO 80127

Mr. Chalmers and Mr. Klenda;

On May 18, 2018, the Department of the Interior (DOI) released a list of critical minerals pursuant to Executive Order 13817. Despite not meeting definitions of criticality defined by the USGS or Executive Order 13817, this list included uranium. Shortly thereafter, on July 18, 2018, your companies filed a petition with the Department of Commerce (DOC) to open a national security investigation of uranium imports under Section 232 of the Trade Expansion Act of 1962. The Section 232 petition claims, among other things, that the domestic uranium industry is in crisis and that uranium supply is a matter of national security due to the potential for supply chain disruption. Analysts from many different sectors disagree with these claims. Pemand is low, supplies are high, and prices are low. It is therefore not clear what reason the administration would have to prop up this declining market, other than to improve market conditions for uranium mining companies.

This is not the first time the actions of your companies have come under scrutiny. On behalf of Energy Fuels, Andrew Wheeler successfully lobbied the administration to reduce the size of Bears Ears National Monument, opening access for uranium mining claims and transportation.⁵ Energy Fuels also owns a 12 percent stake in claims around the Grand Canyon, and Mr. Chalmers is on the record saying that right now, a mine in this area would only "break even." Indeed, your companies seem confident about the outcome of the DOC investigation. After hosting DOC investigators, Mr. Klenda said: "We look forward to the DOC's findings and to President Trump using his authority to take action to support a sustainable domestic uranium mining industry."⁷

Uranium mining often carries with it environmental and human health impacts that stretch well beyond the life of a company; we are still dealing with over 15,000 abandoned uranium mines in the western United States. Decisions regarding new uranium mines need to be based on the national and public interest, not the financial interests of individual companies.

The House Natural Resources Committee, and specifically the Energy and Mineral Resources Subcommittee, are responsible for oversight of all matters regarding mining regulation and enforcement generally, and conservation of the United States uranium supply more specifically. We are opening an investigation into the administration's ongoing actions regarding uranium over the past two years. To assist the Committee's oversight of these issues, please provide the following documents and information as soon as possible, but no later than March 1, 2019:

- 1. All documents and communications within and between employees and persons at Ur-Energy, Inc., and Energy Fuels, Inc., with the Department of the Interior, Department of Defense, Department of Commerce, and the White House, since January 20, 2017, relating to the inclusion of uranium on the critical minerals list developed under Executive Order 13817.
- 2. All documents and communications of employees and persons within and between Ur-Energy, Inc., and Energy Fuels, Inc., with the Department of the Interior, Department of Defense, Department of Commerce, and the White House, since January 20, 2017, relating to the Department of Commerce Section 232 Investigation on uranium.

Please refer to the attached instructions on how to respond to this document request. As specified therein, upon completion of the document production, please submit a written certification that a diligent search has been completed and all responsive documents have been produced to the Committee. If you have any questions about this request, please contact my staff at (202) 225-6065.

Sincerely,

Chairman

Committee on Natural Resources

Responding to Committee Document Requests

In responding to document requests from the Committee on Natural Resources, please apply the instructions and definitions set forth below:

Instructions

- 1. In complying with the request, you should produce all responsive documents that are in your possession, custody, or control, whether held by you or your past or present agents, employees, and representatives acting on your behalf. You should also produce documents that you have a legal right to obtain, that you have a right to copy, or to which you have access, as well as documents that you have placed in the temporary possession, custody, or control of any third party. Requested records, documents, data, or information should not be destroyed, modified, removed, transferred, or otherwise made inaccessible to the Committee.
- 2. In the event that any entity, organization, or individual denoted in this request has been, or is currently, known by any other name than that herein denoted, the request should be read also to include them under that alternative identification.
- 3. The Committee's preference is to receive documents in electronic form (i.e., memory stick or thumb drive) in lieu of paper productions. Documents produced in electronic format should also be organized, identified, and indexed electronically. Consult with the Committee to determine the appropriate format in which to produce the information.
- 4. Each document produced should be produced in a form that renders the document capable of being copied.
- 5. Documents produced to the Committee should include an index describing the contents of the production. To the extent more than one CD, hard drive, memory stick, thumb drive, box, or folder is produced, each CD, hard drive, memory stick, thumb drive, box, or folder should contain an index describing its contents.
- 6. Documents produced in response to this request should be produced together with copies of file labels, dividers or identifying markers with which they were associated when this request was issued. To the extent that documents were not stored with file labels, dividers, or identifying markers, they should be organized into separate folders by subject matter prior to production.
- 7. When you produce documents, you should identify the paragraph in the Committee's schedule to which the documents respond.
- 8. It shall not be a basis for refusal to produce documents that any other person or entity also possesses a non-identical or identical copy of the same documents.
- 9. If compliance with the request cannot be made in full, compliance should be made to the extent possible and should include an explanation of why full compliance is not possible.

- 10. In the event that a document is withheld on the basis of privilege, provide a privilege log containing the following information concerning any such document: (a) the privilege asserted; (b) the type of document; (c) the general subject matter; (d) the date, author and addressee; and (e) the relationship of the author and addressee to each other.
- 11. If any document responsive to this request was, but no longer is, in your possession, custody, or control, you should identify the document (stating its date, author, subject and recipients) and explain the circumstances by which the document ceased to be in your possession, custody, or control.
- 12. If a date or other descriptive detail set forth in this request referring to a document is inaccurate, but the actual date or other descriptive detail is known to you or is otherwise apparent from the context of the request, you should produce all documents which would be responsive as if the date or other descriptive detail were correct.
- 13. This request is continuing in nature and applies to any newly-discovered information. Any record, document, compilation of data, or information not produced because it has not been located or discovered by the return date should be produced immediately upon location or discovery subsequent thereto.
- 14. All documents should be Bates-stamped sequentially and produced sequentially.
- 15. Documents produced to the Committee in response to this request should be delivered to majority staff in Room 1324 of the Longworth House Office Building.
