

TITLE II: NORTHWEST CALIFORNIA WILDERNESS, RECREATION, AND WORKING FORESTS ACT (HUFFMAN – H.R. 878)

Supports Wildfire Resilience, the Outdoor Recreation and Tourism Economy, and Important Wildlife Habitat

Summary of the Northwest California Wilderness, Recreation, and Working Forests Act

Title II would designate new wilderness, wild and scenic rivers, recreation and conservation areas, and forest and watershed restoration areas in Northern California. The title also supports economic development by considering new trail designations, new visitor centers, opportunities for public lands restoration, and includes provisions to address wildfire risk and help curtail illegal marijuana cultivation in Northern California national forests.

Title II would:

- Designate approximately 724,007 acres as the South Fork-Trinity Mad River restoration area.
- Designate approximately 307,489 acres as new, expanded, or potential wilderness areas.
- Designate approximately 12,254 acres as the Sanhedrin Conservation Management Area.
- Designate approximately 7,482 acres as the Horse Mountain Special Management Area.
- Add approximately 480 river miles to the National Wild and Scenic Rivers System.
- Study new recreational trail opportunities and visitor accommodations.
- Support grove restoration and road remediation in Redwood National and State Parks.
- Create the California Public Lands Remediation Partnership to address trespass marijuana operations.
